Destiny African Market & Variety Store, Randolph, Massachusetts

At Destiny African Market & Variety Store, food is our love language. We're an African grocery store offering the full African food experience through raw foods, ingredients, and specialty variety items. Our Ghanaian and Nigerian food offerings are second to none in the Randolph, MA area, and feature African classics like moin moin and beef suya.

The mission of our business is to create accessibility to African food by importing hard-to-find food products and satisfying the acquired tastes of Afro-Caribbean in Massachusetts. We offer African catering for large events and meal prep for select clients, as well as retail - where we sell raw food and ingredients in our storefront location.
502 South Main Street, Randolph, MA 02368

NEW VIDEO!!

An African ethnic group with an ancient name generator.

Among the Kikuyu, an ethnic community in Kenya, children do come with instructions. This is a fascinating story of a name generating system that was created thousands of years ago that may sound like a modern computer program. The protocols are still enforced today. The naming convention has been passed on orally. From generation to generation for thousands of years. Believe it or not.
